Basic Principles
For Training Teens

What puts them at risk?

- Lack of experience
- Unfamiliar with work
- Enthusiasm—sometimes outweighs judgment
- Risk-taking attitude
- Drive to “prove” themselves
- Reluctance to ask questions

Adolescents respond most effectively to hands-on training in the job tasks they are to perform. Be sure to document all training in writing.

What to Train

- Doing the job safely.

- Taking precautions.
- Using personal protective equipment.
- What to do if a problem arises.
- Guidelines to follow in case of emergency.

How to Train

- Train using verbal interaction.
- Use visual aids and emphasize key points.
- Review instructions and seek feedback.
- Ask teen to repeat instructions.
- Demonstrate how to perform the task.
- Watch teen perform the task, correct mistakes and review proper procedure.
- Keep training sessions short.
- Ask for questions.

When to Train

- When the teen is first hired.
- When the teen is given a new task or tool.
- When a new hazard is introduced into the workplace.
- After and incident (an injury or close call).
- Periodically for review.

Cultural Sensitivity

- Invest time in learning about the teens’ cultures
- Demonstrate respect
- Show patience
- Seek help from community organizations associated with teens’ cultures
- Avoid value judgments
- Use sensitive language
- Recognize the importance of family
- Accept lack of direct eye contact
- Be aware of tendency to take risks
